Introduction

The governance of our local authorities and cities has become increasingly complex: where does power lie? Who, at a local level has responsibility for our education, litter collection or indeed representing our views and concerns on the Council?

How can ordinary residents effectively interact with and influence the kaleidoscope of public bodies and institutions that make decisions on a daily basis on our lives?

Central to Operation Black Vote's (OBV) work has been the empowerment of Black and minority ethnic (BME) communities so that they can play a full and positive role in civic society and thereby have greater control over day to day decisions. A key aspect of empowerment is to have an increased understanding of key public decision-making bodies such as the local authority, national health trust, and many others.

Operation Black Vote (OBV) in a unique and ground breaking partnership with the London Empowerment Partnership Targeted Support Programme, managed by the London Civic Forum are bringing you a unique set of materials - this booklet and a website - to unlock the decision making process in your local area: Redbridge.

Overview

257,600 people
21.78 sq miles
77% registered voters

The Borough of Redbridge was formed in 1965 by the London Government Act. The Borough covers three former areas of Essex: the Municipal Borough of Ilford; the northern part of the Municipal Borough of Dagenham and an eastern section of Chigwell Urban District.

Redbridge's administrative headquarters are in Ilford, a large suburban town with a significant commercial and retail centre and residential developments, in the north-east of London.

Redbridge is ranked 143 out of 354 local authorities in England in terms of average deprivation. There are 159 Super Output Areas (SOAs) in Redbridge, and one of those is in the top 10% most deprived.

One in three people in London describe themselves as Black Minority Ethnic.

As of May 2010 it had 197,364 registered voters. The Council is led by the Conservatives, but they do not have majority of councillors. The Council is described as 'hung', which meant that no one party has an overall majority.

Elections were held in May 2010 and take place every four years.

During the course of this booklet we will try to explain how the powers and responsibilities that affect the borough are distributed, how democratic structures work and can be accessed, and provide you with other useful information.

Mission Statement

Operation Black Vote (OBV) is the first initiative to focus exclusively on the Black democratic deficit in the UK. We believe that without a strong political voice for African, Asian, Caribbean and other ethnic minorities, the ideal of equality of opportunity regardless of race and colour - will remain a dream.

OBV recognise that building a future Britain in which African, Asian, Caribbean and other minority ethnic communities have a voice is a long term project. There is an entrenched cynicism about politics within the Black community, especially amongst young people, which cannot be addressed easily, or overnight.

In addition, overcoming stereotypical attitudes and institutional racism within the dominant cultural and political establishment will require a new willingness to communicate and cooperate from both Black and White.

Operation Black Vote is a non-party political campaign, supported by a broad coalition of mainly Black organisations.

OBV has a comprehensive programme that includes political education, participation and representation. Our goal is for a fair, just and inclusive democracy, one that allows our creativity, energy and talent to fulfil it's potential and enhance British society.

OBV is a non-party political campaign, supported by a broad coalition of mainly Black organisations.

Our main objectives are to:

- urge Black people to register to vote
- enable the Black community to claim its place in British democracy
- demonstrate a collective community potential that could significantly influence the outcome in many seats at the General Election
- confront politicians with the reality of what it means to be Black in Britain and force them to address the inequality of opportunity faced by Black people
- encourage them to recognise our unique perspective and positively promote the cultural diversity of British society in the best interests of society as a whole

Local Government in Redbridge

The London Borough of Redbridge is one of 32 boroughs in Greater London. Redbridge Council runs most of the day-to-day services in the borough.

The Council's responsibilities include: social services; many arts and leisure services; street cleaning; roads; and local planning.

Education

Each London Borough acts as the Local Education Authority for its area. Each LEA has certain legal responsibilities and functions which include the provision of suitable education for each child, the improvement of local education, special needs assessment and recruitment of school governors. They also provide services such as educational psychology, school meals, maintenance and out-of-hours facilities. Each LEA is headed by a Councillor with political responsibility for education and learning, and a Chief Education Officer with legal and administrative responsibilities. Each borough has a scrutiny committee which monitors the work of the LEA.

Planning

The boroughs are responsible for dealing with all non-strategic planning applications in their area and applicants have the right to appeal against refusals to the Secretary of State. However, the Mayor of London must be consulted on planning applications that are considered to be of potential strategic importance to London.

He can comment on and support these applications or, if he considers it necessary on strategic planning grounds, he can direct the borough to refuse planning permission. The Mayor of London is not able to direct approval of applications. If a direction to refuse an application is issued, the Mayor must set out his reasons for the decision and the borough will inform the applicant of these reasons. Each borough must produce a Unitary Development plan that addresses these issues as well as wider planning points.

Benefits

Although they operate within strict national guidelines from the Department for Work and Pensions, Housing Benefit and Council Tax Benefit are paid for and administered by local authorities.

Health

The Councils have a range of health and social care responsibilities covering services for older people, mental health, occupational therapy, public and environmental health, often working in partnership with NHS bodies. The Council has an elected councillor with executive responsibility for health services.

Waste disposal and the environment

In collecting and disposing of waste, they must take into account the Mayor's municipal waste management strategy. They are also responsible for promoting and co-ordinating local environmental initiatives, in partnership with the Mayor and on their own. The Council is based at

Local Democracy

Redbridge has 63 councillors all elected for a four year term. Elections were held in May 2010 and take place every four years. These are 'all out' elections, when all the seats in each Council are contested. In addition by-elections may be called in a ward during this four year term, to replace representatives who have resigned or who have died.

Redbridge is divided into 21 smaller areas called local wards.

These are:

- Aldborough
- Barkingside
- Bridge
- Chadwel
- Church End
- Clayhall
- Clementswood
- Cranbrook
- Fairlop
- Fullwel
- Goodmayes
- Hainault
- Loxford
- Mayfield
- Monkhamms

- Newbury
- Roding
- Seven Kings
- Snaresbrook
- Valentines
- Wanstead

Each of these wards elects three councillors.

Understanding which ward you live in, is the first step to contacting your local councillors. If you don't know the ward in which you live, contact the Council and they will help you find out. You can also use their website and fill in the My councillor module on the Council's homepage at:

www.redbridge.gov.uk

What do councillors do?

It is a councillor's role to help individuals in the local area. They make sure that the Council is delivering good services, decide on priority areas that the Council should be working on, sit on committees which make these decisions, as well as perform a scrutiny role.

They hold regular advice 'surgeries' where you can meet with them privately and discuss your specific issues.

How do I vote for a councillor?

If you are over 18, live in Redbridge and are a British, Commonwealth, or a European Union Citizen, then you are eligible to vote in all elections, local, regional, parliamentary, and European.

The next local elections are due to take place in May 2014.

To be able to vote you must register with the local Council. You can register to vote from the age of 17, although you cannot vote until you are 18. Polling stations are open from 7am until 10pm for all UK elections. You can now take your children with you when you go to vote. If you're unable to get to the polling station you can apply for a postal vote or arrange for someone else to cast your vote for you (a proxy).

Opening hours

Monday–Friday (8:30am–5:30pm)

Redbridge Council's structure

London boroughs are now all run under a cabinet system, in which the Executive is drawn from the majority group or coalition in the full Council, which elects a leader, who then appoints a number of councillors to hold portfolios responsible for individual departments and functions. Other councillors, known as 'back benchers', scrutinise the work of the Executive.

The Executive or Cabinet

The Executive is a group of councilors including the Leader that take most of the decisions on what the Council does. Each member of the Cabinet takes responsibility for a policy portfolio and a department which delivers these policies and the relevant local services.

They are the formal link between councillors and officers in terms of the overall direction in which the Council is working and performance management.

The Executive is the body which gives direction to the Chief Executive and the Corporate Management Team, and holds those employees to account for their performance, and is also responsible for ensuring appropriate links with external partners. The Executive pays particular attention to the effective and appropriate use of the Council's resources (workforce, finances and assets).

For example it is responsible for:

- developing policy, budget and Council Tax proposals for agreement by the Assembly
- making important decisions about the day-to-day work of the Council based on the policies and priorities set by the Assembly
- ensuring the Council works effectively with its partners on behalf of the community

Forward Plan

The Forward Plan is a document that sets out the decisions that the Executive, individual Members and sub-groups of the Executive are expected to take over the next four months, together with key decisions taken by officers.

All local authorities must publish a Forward Plan containing details of all key decisions to be taken. It also explains how people can make representations to the decision-makers.

A new Forward Plan is produced every month with any outstanding matters contained in previous plans included in the latest one.

You can view the forward plans at:

www.redbridge.gov.uk

It is also available in Libraries, Idea Stores, One Stop Shops, and Council offices.

The current Executive members are:

- Councillor Keith Prince
Leader of the Council and Cabinet Member for Finance
- Councillor Ian G. Bond
Deputy Leader of the Council and Cabinet Member for Resources
- Councillor Robin Andrew Turbfield

Scrutiny

Overview and scrutiny is part of the Council's arrangements for making sure decision-making processes are robust and take account of local needs. Scrutiny Committees are made up of 'back bench' councillors and they cover the range of Council functions. They monitor the work of Council departments and carry out investigations into matters of interest. They usually take evidence in writing and in public from members of the Cabinet, officials, residents, interested groups and experts.

Scrutiny Committees influence policy, produce reports, monitor budgets and make recommendations to the Council's Executive - the body ultimately responsible for decision-making within the Council.

Redbridge has eight Scrutiny Committees each supported by a dedicated team known as the Scrutiny Unit.

The Unit is based in Strategic Services and reports directly to the Director of Customer Services and Performance.

Research and support work is undertaken by this team and each of the eight Scrutiny Committee is serviced by one of the team members and assisted by a lead officer.

Redbridge Mayor

Some London Boroughs have directly elected Mayors with particular powers. Redbridge is not one of them.

The Mayor is a serving councillor who is elected to the office for one year at the Council's AGM, held annually in May.

Councillor Jim O'Shea is currently the Mayor of Redbridge.

The Mayor is a civic representative of the Council and has no formal power on decision making. His role is non political.

How do I make a change to a Council-run service

One way to help improve the work of the Council is by making use of its complaints procedure.

Stage 1

Contact the Corporate Complaints team:

---

Contact

T 020 8554 5000
E customer.cc@redbridge.gov.uk

They should write to you with a response within ten working days.

What can I complain about?

- feel the Council have treated you unfairly or discriminated against you
- feel that staff have been rude or impolite
- are not satisfied with the quality of a service
- feel the Council have not delivered a service in the time they promised

Stage 2

If you are not happy with the answer you received at stage 1, you can ask for a management investigation. Staff in the One-Stop Shops can help you do this or you can contact the Corporate Complaints team directly on:

---

Contact

T 020 8554 5000
E complaints@redbridge.gov.uk

They should send you an acknowledgement within 48 hours of receiving your complaint and tell you who is looking into it. They aim to give you a full reply within 20 working days at stage 2 and 3. If they can't finish their investigation in time, they will let you know and tell you why.

Stage 3

If you are still not happy with the response at stage 2, you can ask the Chief Executive to look at your complaint. Let the Corporate Complaints Team know that you want to do this and why.

The Chief Executive will review the previous decisions and decide if they were fair and reasonable. They aim to deal with your complaint within 20 working days and if they can't complete it on time, they will tell you why.

What else can I do?

If you feel you did not receive a satisfactory response and there has been maladministration causing injustice then you can complain to the Local Government Ombudsman. Their service is free.

Visit www.lgo.org.uk

Alternatively you can complain directly to your MP or councillor (see your representatives section).

Greater London Authority (GLA)

Since 2000 London has had a new system of elected citywide government, comprising a directly elected Mayor and a directly elected Assembly.

Mayor

The Mayor's role as the executive of the strategic authority for London is to promote economic development and wealth creation, social development, and the improvement of the environment. The Mayor also has a number of other duties in relation to culture and tourism, including responsibility for Trafalgar Square and Parliament Square.

The Mayor has a range of specific powers and duties, and a general power to do anything that will promote economic and social development, and environmental improvements, in London. Before using many of his powers the Mayor must consult with Londoners, and in all cases the Mayor must promote equality of opportunity.

The Mayor sets out plans and policies for London covering transport, planning and development, economic development and regeneration, culture, and a range of environmental issues including biodiversity, ambient noise, waste disposal and air quality.

These individual plans fit together to help deliver the Mayor's policies. Between them, these plans must also contribute to sustainable development and the health of Londoners.

The Mayor sets the annual budget for:

- the Greater London Authority;
- the Metropolitan Police, who provide policing in the capital, under the oversight of the Metropolitan Police Authority
- Transport for London, who provide buses, river services, London Underground, and some light rail services, maintain London's main roads and regulate London's licensed taxi service
- the London Development Agency, which works with business to sustain and improve London's role as a business centre, while increasing economic opportunity for all Londoners

- London Fire Brigade, which responds to fires and promotes fire prevention, under the oversight of London Fire and Emergency Planning Authority

The current Mayor is the Conservative, Boris Johnson.

The Mayor appoints a member of the London Assembly to be Deputy Mayor. The current Deputy Mayor is Richard Barnes – the leader of the Conservative Group.

The Mayor is elected for a fixed term of four years. The next election of Mayor and Assembly will be in May 2012.

London Assembly

The London Assembly comprises 25 members, all elected at the same time as the Mayor. 11 members are elected on a London wide basis and there are 14 constituency members each representing an area of London.

The Assembly examines the Mayor's activities and questions him about his decisions. The Assembly is also able to investigate other issues of importance to Londoners, publish its finding and recommendations, and make proposals to the Mayor. The Assembly conducts much of its business through formal public meetings and investigative committees.

The London Assembly's scrutiny committees consult with government, a wide range of public and private sector organisations and members of the public

Roger Evans is the current London Assembly member representing the constituency of Havering and Redbridge for the Conservatives.

His GLA responsibilities are:

- Chair of the Audit Panel
- Member of the Budget and Performance Committee
- Member of the Business Management and Administration Committee
- Member of the Confirmation Hearings Committee
- Member of the Environment Committee
- Member of the London Fire and Emergency Planning Authority (LFEPA)

He was re-elected in May 2008.

What work does our local MP do for us?

MPs represent the interests of their constituents in Parliament by:

- taking part in the scrutiny and passage of new legislation
- taking part in debates
- holding the Government to account by asking questions of Ministers
- being members of committees which monitor government departments
- handling constituency case work about the delivery of public services by central government, for example immigration applications, welfare benefits decisions, and NHS services

Most MPs hold regular surgeries in their constituency - you can find details of when and where these will be held, in your local library or on your MP's website.
